Using rose gold foil logo hot stamping technology, this process not only increases the luxury of the product, but also enhances the brand image. Hot stamping technology has been widely applied in packaging design, providing unique metallic luster and visual effects. In addition, the new environmentally friendly printable and gilded cosmetic packaging box project uses aluminum electroplated instead of traditional gold and silver cardboard. This innovation not only reduces costs but also reduces environmental pollution.

Environmentally friendly materials: The packaging box is made of special paper and 2mm hard paper, which is not only environmentally friendly and durable, but also meets the current market demand for green packaging. In addition, as a widely used packaging material, paper is relatively easy to recycle and helps reduce waste.

Our boxes support CMYK, hot stamping, and embossed logo printing, which can be customized according to the specific design requirements of the brand. This is very important because excellent packaging design not only enhances product value, but also attracts consumer attention. By using advanced printing techniques such as HBC-UV hot stamping technology, high-quality visual effects can be achieved while maintaining environmental standards.

This hinged cardboard box is suitable for various transportation modes such as express delivery, air, train, and sea freight, and is very suitable for retail packaging, gifts, and product display. This flexibility and adaptability make cardboard boxes a practical solution that can meet packaging needs in different scenarios.

Each box is equipped with EVA accessories to ensure the safety and reliability of the skincare bottle packaging. This design takes into account the protection needs of the product during transportation, ensuring that the product remains intact and undamaged before reaching consumers. This book shaped cardboard box combines aesthetics, environmental protection, and practicality in its design, making it ideal as a packaging solution for cosmetics or skincare products. By adopting advanced materials and technologies, not only has the product's market competitiveness been enhanced, but it also meets the high demands of modern consumers for environmental protection and sustainability.
